

MUSICAL THEATRE AND ACTING COACHING FOR COLLEGE AUDITIONS

Ryan Malyar is an Equity Actor with International Credits and his Bachelor of Fine Arts in Music Theatre from The Boston Conservatory of Music. He is dedicated to and highly experienced in helping students prepare to show their best, most unique selves to college Musical Theatre and Acting programs. Ryan's collection of musical theatre scores and monologues is expansive and he will do his best to find material that is perfect for you to nail the audition

Audition song and audition monologue coaching

Includes selection of material and presentation of audition pieces that fit the performer's skill level, range and personality. Selecting what pieces to perform for a college audition can often be daunting for the young performer without a wealth of appropriate repertoire or audition experience. Ryan will guide you through the complete audition process and give you an insight into what these top programs are actually looking for at your audition.

Vocal technique lessons

During these sessions, students work on vocal techniques (breathing, tone production, vowel shapes, and diction) as well as style, pronunciation, and memorization of musical selections.

Audition interview preparation

Just like an interview for any job there's a skill to being relaxed and confident during your Interview. Practice makes perfect for a stress-free interview.

College counseling

Includes building a balanced school list based on the students interests and goals, organization of the application process, and answering of artistic and academic questions about specific schools.

How it works?

Coaching is available in person in Midtown NYC or in Central New Jersey.
